

The New York Public Library
Billy Rose Theatre Division

Guide to the

Marie Doro scrapbook

1903-1921

MWEZ + n.c. 1758A

Summary

Creator: Doro, Marie

Title: Marie Doro scrapbook

Date: 1903-1921

Size: 1 volume

Source: Scrapbook: Gift, Brooks Atkinson

Abstract: Actress Marie Doro was born in Duncannon, Pennsylvania, the daughter of an attorney, E.H. Stuart. She first appeared on the stage in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1901, made her New York debut in 1903 and her London debut in 1905. She starred in THE MORALS OF MARCUS (1907), OLIVER (1912), as Oliver, THE NEW SECRETARY (1913), The LILIES OF THE FIELD (1921), and many others. She also starred in a number of silent films, particularly film versions of her plays. A scrapbook of photographs, most clipped from periodicals, shows Marie Doro in various theatrical roles. Also includes a few articles containing interviews with her.

Preferred citation: Marie Doro scrapbook, Billy Rose Theatre Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

Actress Marie Doro was born in Duncannon, Pennsylvania, the daughter of an attorney, E.H. Stuart. She first appeared on the stage in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1901, made her New York debut in 1903 and her London debut in 1905. She starred in THE MORALS OF MARCUS (1907), OLIVER (1912), as Oliver, THE NEW SECRETARY (1913), The LILIES OF THE FIELD (1921), and many others. She also starred in a number of silent films, particularly film versions of her plays.

Scope and Content Note

A scrapbook of photographs, most clipped from periodicals, shows Marie Doro in various theatrical roles. Also includes a few articles containing interviews with her.

Key Terms

Subjects

Actresses -- Portraits

Genre/Physical Characteristic

Scrapbooks

Names

Doro, Marie