

The New York Public Library
Billy Rose Theatre Division

Guide to the

Kayton Sisters scrapbooks

1915-1954

*T-Mss 1993-012

Summary

Creator: Kayton Sisters

Title: Kayton Sisters scrapbooks

Date: 1915-1954

Size: .4 linear feet (2 boxes)

Source: Scrapbooks: gift, Frances Tannehill, 03/17/93

Abstract: The Kayton Sisters, Jean, Lillian (sometimes known as Babe), and occasionally a third sister, Cecyl, were dancers of the vaudeville era. They performed across the United States in the 1920s and then set up their own dancing school in the 1930s. The Kayton Sisters Studios, in Queens and the Bronx, continued into the 1950s. Collection consists of two scrapbooks of clippings, programs and a few photographs reflecting the careers of the Kayton sisters. There are also some loose programs for the annual revues at their studio and some unidentified photographs of their students that they received as gifts.

Preferred citation: Kayton Sisters scrapbooks, Billy Rose Theatre Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

The Kayton Sisters, Jean, Lillian (sometimes known as Babe), and occasionally a third sister, Cecyl, were dancers of the vaudeville era. They performed across the United States in the 1920s and then set up their own dancing school in the 1930s. The Kayton Sisters Studios, in Queens and the Bronx, continued into the 1950s.

Scope and Content Note

Collection consists of two scrapbooks of clippings, programs and a few photographs reflecting the careers of the Kayton sisters. There are also some loose programs for the annual revues at their studio and some unidentified photographs of their students that they received as gifts.

Key Terms

Subjects

Dance schools -- New York (State) -- New York
Vaudeville

Names

Kayton Sisters
Kayton, Jean
Kayton, Lillian
Kayton Sisters Studios