The New York Public Library
Billy Rose Theatre Division

Guide to the
First American Congress of Theatre Records
1974
*T-Mss 1997-016

Summary

Creator: First American Congress of Theatre

Title: First American Congress of Theatre Records

Date: 1974

Size: .5 linear feet (1 box)

Source: Papers: gift, Gus Vasiliadis who received this photocopied collection in 1974 in his role of Theatre Associate, NY State Council on the Arts, 05/13/97

Abstract: The First American Congress of Theatre (FACT) was a four day conference of American theater artists and administrators held in Princeton, New Jersey in June 1974 in order to improve conditions affecting the American theater. Areas of concern included legislation, taxation, the urban environment, foundation and corporate support, audience development, marketing, new technology, the media, encouragement of new plays, and alternative theater. Collection includes correspondence, minutes, conference schedule, reports and transcripts of panel discussions, and a list of the delegates, panelists and special guests at the congress.

Preferred citation: First American Congress of Theatre Records, Billy Rose Theatre Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

The First American Congress of Theatre (FACT) was a four day conference of American theater artists and administrators held in Princeton, New Jersey in June 1974 in order to improve conditions affecting the American theater. Areas of concern included legislation, taxation, the urban environment, foundation and corporate support, audience development, marketing, new technology, the media, encouragement of new plays, and alternative theater.

Scope and Content Note

Collection includes correspondence, minutes, conference schedule, reports and transcripts of panel discussions, and a list of the delegates, panelists and special guests at the congress.

Key Terms

Subjects
Theater -- Congresses -- United States

Names
First American Congress of Theatre