

The New York Public Library
Billy Rose Theatre Division

Guide to the

George B. Dowell papers

1954-1957

*T-Mss 2001-016

Summary

Creator: Dowell, George B

Title: George B. Dowell papers

Date: 1954-1957

Size: .1 linear feet. (1 portfolio), 40 cm

Abstract: George B. Dowell was affiliated with the Theatre Department of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., where he directed a number of plays. The George B. Dowell papers span 1954-1957, but the bulk date from 1954, and are primarily concerned with arrangements for a theatrical tour of the British Isles by a troupe of Smith College students, performing a full-length play and several one-acts. Also included is an undated essay written by George Dowell on the influence of Persian poets on the work of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Preferred citation: George B. Dowell papers, Billy Rose Theatre Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

George B. Dowell was affiliated with the Theatre Department of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., where he directed a number of plays.

Scope and Content Note

The George B. Dowell papers span 1954-1957, but the bulk date from 1954, and are primarily concerned with arrangements for a theatrical tour of the British Isles by a troupe of Smith College students, performing a full-length play and several one-acts. Also included is an undated essay written by George Dowell on the influence of Persian poets on the work of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Key Terms

Genre/Physical Characteristic

Correspondence

Subjects

Theater

Names

Dowell, George B

Emerson, Ralph Waldo, 1803-1882