

The New York Public Library
Billy Rose Theatre Division

Guide to the

Papers regarding Jane Fonda

1971-1976

*T-Mss 2003-034

Summary

Creator: Harbin, Mack Sandy

Title: Papers regarding Jane Fonda

Date: 1971-1976

Size: .1 linear feet

Source: papers: Purchase, 08/18/2003

Abstract: Jane Fonda, winner of the Academy Award for Best Actress in May 1972, went to North Vietnam in July of that year and participated in a series of propaganda events to promote opposition to American involvement in the war. Consists of twelve letters from various agencies of the U.S. government to Sandy Mack Harbin, ten of which concern the activities of Jane Fonda. Over several years, Harbin attempted to assist the government in legal proceedings against Fonda.

Preferred citation: Papers regarding Jane Fonda, Billy Rose Theatre Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

Jane Fonda, winner of the Academy Award for Best Actress in May 1972, went to North Vietnam in July of that year and participated in a series of propaganda events to promote opposition to American involvement in the war.

Scope and Content Note

Consists of twelve letters from various agencies of the U.S. government to Sandy Mack Harbin, ten of which concern the activities of Jane Fonda. Over several years, Harbin attempted to assist the government in legal proceedings against Fonda.

Key Terms

Subjects

Vietnam War, 1961-1975 -- Collaborationists -- United States

Names

Harbin, Mack Sandy

Fonda, Jane, 1937-

Harbin, Sandy Mack