Creator History

The Actors Company Theatre (TACT) was an Off-Broadway theatre company that operated for twenty-five seasons, and held over 200 productions, from 1992 to 2018. Founded by a group of stage veterans, TACT focused on the production of lesser-known and underperformed plays of literary merit. Notable productions included Tennessee Williams' The Eccentricities of a Nightingale, Brian Friel's Lovers, David Storey's Home, Neil Simon's Lost in Yonkers (for which TACT received a Drama Desk nomination for Outstanding Revival of a Play), and Edward Bond's The Sea. In 2006, TACT took up residence in the Beckett Theatre and later became an established part of Theatre Row. In addition to its main productions, TACT also hosted a Salon Series, which were rehearsed readings that featured live music by composers from the Manhattan School of Music.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of production and dramaturgy files, financial records, photographs and office files (generally grouped by production or event and including invoices and receipts, programs, marketing materials, budgets, and set design), as well as audio and moving image recordings. This collection is arranged into five Series: Production and Dramaturgy Files; Photographs; Office Files; Scrapbooks; and Audio and Moving Image materials.
