Summary

Creator: Sigourney, L. H. (Lydia Howard), 1791-1865

Title: Lydia Howard Huntley Sigourney letters, poems, and other material

Date: 1829-1864

Size: .1 linear feet (1 folder)

Source: Gift of John Pierpont Morgan, 1899, with additional gifts and purchases.

Abstract: Lydia Huntley Sigourney, born Lydia Howard Huntley, was a 19th century American poet and educator. Her letters discuss social engagements; the education of young ladies in Connecticut; books of interest or purchased; and matters relating to the publication of her own works. Manuscript poems present in the collection include "On Using the Library of Robert L. Stuart, Esq.;;" "The Indians," and "Huguenot Fork." Also present is a manuscript translation of Tricoupi 's funeral oration on Lord Byron in Sigourney's hand, and several autographs.

Access: Advance notice required.

Preferred citation: Lydia Howard Huntley Sigourney letters, poems, and other material, Manuscripts and Archives Division, The New York Public Library

Processing note: Compiled by Kit Messick, 2014

Custodial History

Some material was originally received as part of the Ford collection.

Scope and Content Note

Lydia Huntley Sigourney, born Lydia Howard Huntley, was a 19th century American poet and educator. Her letters discuss social engagements; the education of young ladies in Connecticut; books of interest or purchased; and matters relating to the publication of her own works. Manuscript poems present in the collection include "On Using the Library of Robert L. Stuart, Esq.;" "The Indians;" and "Huguenot Fork." Also present is a manuscript translation of Tricoupi's funeral oration on Lord Byron in Sigourney's hand, and several autographs.

Key Terms

Genre/Physical Characteristic
Autographs
Poems

Geographic Names
Connecticut -- Intellectual life -- 19th century

Occupations
Poets, American -- 19th century

Subjects
Women poets, American

Names
Sigourney, L. H. (Lydia Howard), 1791-1865 -- Correspondence