

The New York Public Library
Manuscripts and Archives Division

Guide to the

American Institute of the City of New York finance committee reports

1849-1851

MssCol 78

Summary

Creator: American Institute of the City of New York

Title: American Institute of the City of New York finance committee reports

Date: 1849-1851

Size: .06 linear feet (1 volume)

Abstract: The American Institute of the City of New York, also known as the American Institute of the City of New York for the Encouragement of Science and Invention, was an association of inventors which organized exhibitions, lecture series and radio broadcasts to inform the public about new technologies and served as a locus for inventors' professional activities. It was chartered in 1829 and merged with the New York Academy of Sciences (NYAS) in the 1980s.

Access: Advance notice required.

Preferred citation: American Institute of the City of New York finance committee reports, Manuscripts and Archives Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

The American Institute of the City of New York, also known as the American Institute of the City of New York for the Encouragement of Science and Invention, was an association of inventors which organized exhibitions, lecture series and radio broadcasts to inform the public about new technologies and served as a locus for inventors' professional activities. It was chartered in 1829 and merged with the New York Academy of Sciences (NYAS) in the 1980s.

Key Terms

Subjects

Exhibitions -- New York (State) -- New York

Genre/Physical Characteristic
Reports

Names
American Institute of the City of New York
New York, N.Y.