Creator History

Maya Angelou (1928-2014) was one of the most renowned and celebrated voices in American literature. She was a poet, memoirist, novelist, educator, dramatist, producer, actress, dancer, historian, filmmaker, and civil rights activist.

In the mid-fifties, Angelou toured Europe with a production of the opera Porgy and Bess. She studied modern dance with Martha Graham, danced with Alvin Ailey on television variety shows and, in 1957, recorded her first album, Calypso Lady. In 1958, she moved to New York, where she joined the Harlem Writers Guild, acted in the historic Off-Broadway production of Jean Genet's The Blacks and wrote and performed Cabaret for Freedom. She also worked for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), under Martin Luther King Jr.'s leadership. In the early 1960s, she moved with her son to Africa, where she lived and worked for various news outlets, as a journalist, in Egypt and Ghana. Inspired by James Baldwin to write her story, Angelou published her first book, I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings (1969) to international acclaim and enormous popular success. Her published verse, non-fiction, and fiction include more than 30 bestselling titles, such as Gather Together in My Name (1974), And Still I Rise (1978), and I Shall Not Be Moved (1990). Among her accomplishments, Angelou wrote the screenplay and composed the score for the 1972 film Georgia, Georgia. Her script, the first by an African American woman ever to be filmed, was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize. She made numerous television and film appearances, in Alex Haley's Roots (1977) and John Singleton's Poetic Justice (1993), among others. The feature film, Down in the Delta, was Angelou's directorial debut.

Angelou composed and read her poem "On the Pulse of the Morning" at President William (Bill) Clinton's first inaugural ceremony in 1993. Angelou served on two presidential committees; was awarded the Presidential Medal of Arts in 2000 and the Lincoln Medal in 2008; and has received three Grammy Awards. Despite never attending college, she received over thirty honorary degrees from universities across the nation. Angelou died in 2014, leaving a legacy of artistry for generations to come.

Scope and Content Note

The Maya Angelou papers consist of original manuscripts, computer generated typescripts, galleys, and proofs of published work such as I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings, Hallelujah the Welcome Table, I Shall Not Be Moved, A Song Flung Up to Heaven, Heart of a Woman, and All God's Children Need Traveling Shoes, among others, as well as manuscripts for unpublished work and dozens of poems. Additionally, there is personal and professional correspondence with such notable figures as James Baldwin, Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, Mari Evans, Rosa Guy, Coretta Scott King, Abbey Lincoln and Max Roach, Julian Mayfield, Malcolm X, and her editors, to name a few.

Also significant are requests to read or perform her work at universities and other organizations, and material related to various organizations' boards and committees on which she participated. Additionally, there are office files; teaching material, such as syllabi and reading assignments; and materials pertaining to Angelou's Hallmark greeting card series. There are a large number of subject files on various individuals, organizations, geographic locations, publications, and schools. Lastly, there is a considerable amount of material about Angelou and includes newspaper clippings, magazine articles, reviews, and other printed material regarding her publications and appearances.

Personal files 1927 - 2009

This first series contains information about Angelou's personal life, including items from her grandmother and uncle, such as a will and financial records; visas for Egypt; correspondence with her mother, son, and other family members; and various awards and honors, including honorary degrees, that she received over the years.

Arranged into three subseries: (1) Biographical; (2) Family correspondence; and (3) Awards and honors.

Biographical 1927 - 2001

Although there is not a large amount of material from Angelou's early life, there are some items that provide some context, such as a report on Arkansas, written by Angelou in elementary school, most likely from the mid-1930s, and financial records of her grandmother, Annie Henderson, also from the 1930s. Additional items of note include a memorial service program and guestbook for her mother, Vivian Baxter, and her brother, Bailey Johnson; an original program for a Parisian performance of Porgy and Bess, 1953; a Porgy and Bess scrapbook from the Israeli tour, 1955; and invoices from Ghana.

Arranged chronologically.

b. 1 f. 1 Life insurance policy for Bailey Johnson, Sr 1927 Maya Angelou's grandfather (husband of Annie Henderson).

b. 2 "Journal of the West Arkansas Annual Conference" 1927 - 1932 Ledger containing the handwritten proceedings of the 43rd-48th sessions of the West Arkansas Annual Conference, which were gatherings of bishops from various episcopal districts. The proceedings include minutes, committee reports, and financial information.

b. 1 f. 2 Financial records of Annie Henderson 1931 - 1938 Maya Angelou's grandmother.

b. 3 "Yesterday and Today: Arkansas History" ca. 1930s Oversized scrapbook containing a handwritten report by "Margurette Johnson" about the history of Arkansas, for which she received a grade of B-.

b. 1 f. 3 Composition book ca. 1930s
Small composition notebook, possibly belonging to Maya Angelou's brother, Bailey, since it includes a partial letter to "Daddy" and references "Margarett". Notebook also contains school lessons and drawings.

b. 1 f. 4 Account ledger 1944 - 1972
Weekly income and expense ledger; only a few records have been completed. Possibly belonged to Annie Henderson for use in her general store since expenses listed include candy, bread, and potatoes.

b. 1 f. 5 Porgy and Bess program 1953
Oversized program for the production at the Theatre de L'Empire, Paris, where Maya Angelou played Ruby.

b. 3 Porgy and Bess scrapbook 1955
Scrapbook of clippings of the Israeli tour of the show; on the inside cover, it is inscribed to Dr. Thomas McGrail, Attaché of Cultural Affairs. One page includes clippings of "dancer" Maya Angelou. Most of the clippings are in Hebrew.

b. 1 f. 6 Financial records of Willie and Lizzie Johnson 1957 - 1974
The aunt and uncle of Maya Angelou.

b. 1 f. 7 Egypt and Liberia 1963
Includes the Egyptian visas of Maya Angelou and her son, Guy Johnson; a newspaper article in Arabic with Angelou's picture, possibly one that she wrote for the Arab Observer; and letters of introduction on behalf of Angelou when she planned on living and working in Liberia.
b. 1 f. 8  Ghana 1963 - 1964
Includes invoices and a theater program from the University of Ghana, where Angelou worked for a time. Also includes a letter to Angelou from someone close to Malcolm X (husband of Connie).

b. 3 f. 1-2  Guy Johnson clippings 1965 - 2002 Includes reviews of Echoes of a Distant Summer.

b. 1 f. 9  "Uncle Willie's will" 1970 - 1977
Will of Willie Johnson, uncle of Maya Angelou. Also includes probate notice.

b. 1 f. 10  Vivian Baxter clippings 1971 - 1991
Mostly photocopies of clippings of Maya Angelou’s mother.

b. 1 f. 11  Guest book for memorial service of William Johnson 1975 April 13 Uncle of Maya Angelou.

b. 1 f. 12  Bellagio Study Conference Center residency, Rockefeller Foundation 1975 - 1976
Includes application material, correspondence, and mementos.

b. 1 f. 13  Second French-Johnson family reunion booklet 1983 June Maya Angelou offered reminiscences and both she and her son read poems.

b. 1 f. 14  Ghana reunion 1983
Mostly includes correspondence from Alice Windom, who organized a reunion in Washington, DC, for African Americans living in or visiting Ghana from 1957-1966.

b. 4 f. 1  Colin Murphy Johnson clipping 1984 Article on missing children, one of whom was Angelou’s grandson, Colin Murphy Johnson.

b. 4 f. 2  Armed Forces memorial certificate to Nollege W. Wilburn ca. 1986

b. 4 f. 3  Medic alert 1988
Lists Angelou’s fatal allergy to seafood.

Also includes thank you note from Maya Angelou and family.

b. 4 f. 6  Park naming for Vivian "Lady B" Baxter 1995 March Program for naming of park after Maya Angelou’s mother in Stockton, California. Angelou was a special guest at the ceremony. Also includes a letter and map of the proposed park.

b. 4 f. 7  "Maya Celebrates 70" 1998 April 4
Program for Angelou’s 70th birthday celebration with a mock Time cover.

b. 4 f. 8  Guest book for memorial service of Bailey Johnson 1999 October 20 Maya Angelou’s brother.

b. 4 f. 9  Exercises 2001
Includes lists of exercises, one of which was prescribed by her doctor.

Family correspondence 1937 - 2009

This subseries contains correspondence with her mother, Vivian Baxter; brother, Bailey Johnson; son, Guy Johnson; grandmother, Annie Henderson; second husband, Paul du Feu; and niece, Rosa Johnson, who would later work for Angelou as an assistant and archivist. Since this correspondence provides a better understanding of Angelou’s early life, it is included here rather than in the correspondence series.

Arranged alphabetically by last name for specific family members, and then chronologically for more general correspondence.

b. 5 f. 1  Baxter, Vivian 1981 - 1987

b. 5 f. 2  du Feu, Paul 1974 - 1988
Maya Angelou’s second husband.

Correspondence 1961 - 2009

This series is divided into five subseries: (1) Personal; (2) Professional; (3) Agents and publishers; (4) Regrets; and (5) Fan mail, the last of which is restricted until 2030. The personal subseries includes letters, emails, faxes, and telegrams to and from friends and colleagues, including James Baldwin, Coretta Scott King, Julian Mayfield, and Dolly McPherson. Many of the items in this subseries overlap with the professional subseries, but are included here because Angelou had close relationships with the individuals before any professional aspects arose. The same occurs with the professional subseries; Angelou became friendly with many of the individuals associated with organizations in which she participated, but after becoming involved professionally. Most of the professional correspondence involves requests for donations, permissions to publish, or requests for participation in an event or performance. Both the personal and professional subseries are organized alphabetically by last name of individual or name of organization, family, or publication. The agents and publishers subseries consists of correspondence with the three literary agents with whom Angelou worked; most of these files also include contracts for publications and promotional events. This material is arranged alphabetically by agent's name. The publishers' correspondence also is arranged alphabetically by publisher's name, although Random House, as the main publisher of Angelou's work, is first. Most of these files also contain contracts. Most of the publishers, excluding Random House, published paperback, revised, or translated editions of Angelou's published work; additionally, many of these publishers requested quotes or reviews from Angelou about other authors' work. The regrets subseries contains correspondence related to event participation; Angelou marked "no", "sent regrets", or "booked" to indicate that she declined these invitations. In some cases, the events were cancelled, and the related correspondence is included here.

Arranged into five subseries as established by Angelou and her office: (1) Personal; (2) Professional; (3) Agents and publishers; (4) Regrets; and (5) Fan mail.

Fan mail is closed until 2030.

Personal 1964 - 2009

Agents and publishers 1970 - 2009

Arranged into two sub-groups: (1) Agents and (2) Publishers.

Agents

Arranged in alphabetical order by name of agency or last name of agent.
Brann, Helen (The Helen Brann Agency, Inc.)

Helen Brann started The Helen Brann Agency, a literary agency, in 1974. She was close friends and later, business associates, with legendary dramatic rights literary agent, Flora Roberts, who also represented Angelou. For decades she represented many writers besides Angelou, including Julian Barnes, Richard Brautigan, Gerald Clarke, Nora Johnson, Stephen Sondheim, and Robert B. Parker.

The Helen Brann Agency handled Angelou's contracts with publishers, including Random House; permission requests; and requests to contribute to other authors' work. The agency also oversaw the approval process for her children's books.

Lordly and Dame

Lordly and Dame, a lecture bureau based in Massachusetts, acted as Angelou's lecture agent. Other clients have included Dr. Joyce Brothers and George Plimpton.

Roberts, Flora (Flora Roberts Agency)

Flora Roberts was a play agent based in New York, New York. Although most of her clients were writers, she also represented a few directors and designers. Although Roberts passed away in 1998, Angelou continued to work with her agency throughout 1999.

As a theatrical agent, Roberts represented Angelou's participation in musical, film, and theater performances, and its corresponding publicity.
Publishers

Random House published the majority of Angelou's work. The exceptions include her children's books, My Painted House, My Friendly Chicken and Me; Kofi and His Magic; and Life Doesn't Frighten Me, the first two of which were published by Clarkson Potter (now part of the Crown Publishing Group) and the last of which was published by Stewart, Tabori, Chang. In addition, Now Sheba Sings the Song, Angelou's collaboration with Tom Feelings, was published by Dutton/Dial Books (now part of the Penguin Group).

After the files on Random House, everything is arranged in alphabetical order.

Random House

Random House, now known as Penguin Random House, publishes original fiction and nonfiction in all formats; the publishing house has published all of Angelou's books (autobiographies, poetry collections, and essay collections) under the editorship of Robert Loomis.

Writing bulk 1970 - 2008

This series is comprised of all aspects of the writing process, from handwritten first drafts to final edited proofs, for Angelou's most well-known publications, including I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings and Letter to My Daughter. Additionally, there is a large number of unpublished work, including poems, essays, and articles. This series also consists of work by others, mostly by friends and colleagues or from publishers requesting quotes or comments.

Arranged into two subseries as established by Angelou and her office: (1) Angelou's writing and (2) Other people's work.

Angelou's writing 1958 - 2008

This subseries is comprised of drafts, handwritten, typed, and edited; correspondence with editors and publishers; galleys; proofs; cover proofs; and printed copies of excerpts or reprints of all of Angelou's most well-known publications. These publications include all of her autobiographies (except for Mom and Me and Mom), essay collections, and poetry collections; most of her children's books, except for Life Doesn't Frighten Me; one of her cookbooks; and a few scripts, most notably the playscript for And Still I Rise (The Musical). Additionally, there are numerous essays and articles, including the series that she wrote for Playgirl in the mid-1970s, and contributions to other people's work (mostly as forewords and introductions). Also included are speeches, lectures, and tributes, such as the tribute for the Special Olympics. There is a significant amount of unpublished material, which also consists of drafts, handwritten, typed, and edited; it is arranged into similar subgroups as the published material. Although there is correspondence with editors and publishers in some of these cases, it is unclear if the material was ever published. Most of the handwritten drafts, published and unpublished, are written on yellow legal pads, Angelou's preferred method of writing.

Arranged into 13 subgroups: (1) Autobiographies; (2) Essay collections; (3) Children's books; (4) Cookbooks; (5) Poetry; (6) Essays and articles; (7) Scripts; (8) Lyrics; (9) Forewords and other contributions; (10) Lectures and speeches; (11) Memorials and tributes; (12) Other; and (13) Unpublished work.

Autobiographies 1967 - 2005

Arranged chronologically, by publication date. Dates on individual folders indicate dates when material was written or revised. Some folders are not in chronological order in order to maintain consistency in the arrangement of this section. This arrangement consists of listing the various stages of the writing process first, followed by editorial and administrative aspects, such as privacy questions and book jacket proofs.

I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings 1967 - 2001

The first volume of Angelou's autobiographies, originally published in 1969.

The first box of I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings follows the order written on the original folders (I-XI); this order does not seem to correspond to the order of the action in the book, however.

Professional files bulk 1961 - 2009

This series contains material related to Angelou's professional activities, such as public appearances, participation on boards and committees, a collaboration with Hallmark, work by her assistants, teaching material, and research material. The first subseries, appearances and engagements, includes public appearances, participation on boards and committees, and performances; this material mostly consists of printed matter, such as programs and flyers for lectures and performances, and committee- and board-related memos and minutes from various organizations. Additionally, there is some correspondence related to these appearances, mostly involving schedules, travel itineraries, and in some cases, contracts. The second subseries relates to her collaboration with Hallmark; Angelou worked with the company in the early 2000s on a line of greeting cards and accessories. The third subseries involves material from her office, such as correspondence from and with her assistants; party invitations and planning; travel itineraries and schedules; and phone, fax, and mail logs. The teaching files subseries mostly includes material from Wake Forest University, where she spent most of her academic career. This material contains course syllabi, reading lists and material, class rosters, and faculty memos. Finally, the research material is organized as subject files, with subgroups created by Angelou; this material mostly consists of printed matter, such as publications, clippings, brochures, and programs.

Arranged into five subseries: (1) Appearances and engagements; (2) Hallmark collaboration; (3) Office files; (4) Teaching files; and (5) Subject files.

Appearances and engagements 1961 - 2009

Most of this material consists of printed matter, such as newspaper clippings, performance and lecture programs, meeting minutes, and conference programs. The academic subgroup includes Angelou's appearances as a commencement speaker, lecturer, and conference participant. The non-academic subgroup includes appearances at awards ceremonies and tributes; addresses at various organization's anniversary celebrations; appearances at memorial services; and festival participation, among others. Angelou was a member of various organizations' Board of Directors, Advisory Boards, and Advisory Councils, including the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration's Advisory Council, the Presidential Delegation to the Inauguration of Nelson Mandela as President of South Africa, and the Maya Angelou Research Center on Minority Health (MARCH) at Wake Forest University's Advisory Board. In a few cases, since she was involved with numerous organizations, she was an honorary member or a member in name only. The conferences and symposia subgroup includes events that occurred outside of an academic setting, such as the National Coalition Against Sexual Assault 7th Annual Conference. The performances subgroup consists of Angelou's participation in an event as a poet, actress, director, dancer, or singer.

Arranged into five subgroups: (1) Academic; (2) Non-academic; (3) Boards and committees; (4) Conferences and symposia; and (5) Performances.

Hallmark collaboration 1992 - 2009

Angelo began her collaboration with Hallmark in 1999; they developed a line of greeting cards and accessories, such as photo albums and picture frames. Angelo participated in the entire creative process, from writing the greeting card text to approving the final layout of the cards. She also was involved in a lawsuit with another company that wanted to collaborate on a line of cards; this company claimed that a letter served as a binding contract although no work was ever completed.

This subseries consists of correspondence with Hallmark; greeting card text drafts (handwritten, typed, and edited); publicity and printed matter, such as the announcement of the collaboration and advertisements for Angelou’s line of cards and accessories; approval forms, templates, and mockups for cards and accessories; and legal documents related to Angelou’s lawsuit.

Arranged into seven subgroups: (1) Correspondence; (2) Writing; (3) Publicity and printed matter; (4) Approval forms; (5) Templates; (6) Mockups; and (7) Legal. Arranged chronologically within each subgroup.

Legal
Angelou filed a lawsuit against Butch Lewis and his production company, B. Lewis Productions, Inc. of New York, alleging that a 1994 letter exchanged between the two about a joint venture was not binding since no business was ever conducted. The judge found that the company did indeed suffer damages, but a specific amount or final settlement is not included in the files.

Includes legal documents (depositions, motions, etc.) related to Butch Lewis Productions vs. Maya Angelou and Hallmark.

Office files 1969 - 2009

This subseries is comprised of all the administrative material associated with Angelou's professional career. Throughout her career, she had various assistants; the first subgroup includes correspondence to and from these assistants on behalf of Angelou. Most of this correspondence is with Angelou's agents and publishers; organizations requesting permissions or appearances; travel agents; and service providers. Other files include templates for Angelou's curriculum vitae and signature; contact lists (including phone numbers and addresses); lists of flowers to be sent; cards from flowers received with notes for sending thank you letters; gift lists; and stationery. Additionally, Angelou's assistants were tasked with arranging and organizing various parties and celebrations, such as her annual Thanksgiving dinner. These files contain guest lists, travel and catering information, and invitations. Angelou's office coordinated all of her travel, and these files are included here. Finally, her office kept logs for her phone messages, faxes, and mail; these files, along with her various appointment books, are included here as well.

Arranged into various subgroups, then chronologically within each subgroup.

Although Angelou spent most of her academic career at Wake Forest University as the Z. Smith Reynolds Professor of American Studies, she also served as Distinguished Visiting Professor of General Studies at California State University, Sacramento, during the fall semester of 1974; Radford University Distinguished Visiting Professor from 1989-1990; and Distinguished Visiting Professor at the University of Exeter in May 1991.

This subseries includes administrative material (grade submissions, book orders, etc.); teaching contracts; course material (reading assignments, quizzes, and tests); printed matter (event posters, college brochures, etc.); and faculty meeting minutes and memoranda. Additionally, there is correspondence in the files for California State University, Sacramento, and the University of Exeter, but the majority of the Wake Forest correspondence is located in the Correspondence: Professional subseries.

General Wake Forest 1981 - 2005
Includes magazine and newspaper articles, brochures, commencement programs, and other printed matter related to Wake Forest University in general.

Subject files 1937 - 2010
Most likely, the subject files were used by Angelou as research for her writing and teaching; they were materials sent to her by friends, colleagues, and the various organizations with which she was involved; or they were areas of interest to Angelou (places to travel, for instance, or topics of personal interest, such as dance). This material mostly includes printed matter (newspaper and magazine articles; brochures; pamphlets; postcards; and publications) related to various topics of interest to Angelou and organized by Angelou and/or her assistants. There are some handwritten notes and a few pieces of correspondence as well. This section is divided into six subgroups: (1) Geographic locations; (2) Individuals; (3) Organizations; (4) Publications; (5) Schools; and (6) Topics. The subgroup organizations includes businesses, theater and dance groups, nonprofit organizations, governmental organizations, museums, and historic sites. Publications include journal issues and student publications, among others. The schools subgroup mostly consists of colleges and universities, but some elementary and high schools as well. Dates listed refer to the dates of publication or event.

Printed matter 1950s - 2007

This series includes all printed matter about Angelou; the majority of the files contain newspaper and magazine article clippings of her interviews and appearances. Some clippings contain quotes by Angelou or refer to her in some way. In addition, this series includes publicity, such as advertisements for Angelou's work and public appearances. There also are numerous reviews of her work, and a large amount of clippings about President Bill Clinton's inauguration ceremony and Angelou's inauguration poem, "On the Pulse of the Morning". In many instances, the original clippings are included but there are also a number of photocopies.

Arranged chronologically.

b. 346 f. 1 Porgy and Bess articles 1955
Includes two clippings from Italian newspapers.

b. 346 f. 2 1960 - 1962
Includes a clipping about a performance of The Blacks in Germany.
One article in German.

b. 347 f. 1 1962 - 1969
b. 347 f. 2 1970
