Biographical Chronology

Philip Levine, 1928-

1928 Born, Detroit, Michigan January 10, of Russian immigrant parents, Harry Levine and Esther Gertrude Priscol. Second of identical twins (Brother Edward), older brother Eli.

1928-1955 Grows up in Detroit, works as a machinist and as a manual laborer, achieves formal education.

1933 Father dies.

1946-1950 Granted B. A. Degree from Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan. Spends a good deal of time in the Miles Poetry Room, meets with fellow poets Robert Huff, Paul Petrie, Florence Goodman, William Leach, Ruby Treague, and Bernard Strepeck. Discovers modern poetry and begins to write his own poems. Ulysses Wardlaw introduces him to the poetry of Whitman.

1951-1953 Marries Patty Kanterman.

1950-1955 Granted M. A. Degree from Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan. Thesis on Keats's "Ode on Indolence." Leaves Detroit for good; completes degree by the mail.

1952 Receives grant for fiction study at University of Iowa Writers Workshop, rejects grant due to financial difficulties.

1953-54 Goes to University of Iowa to study with Robert Lowell. Lack of funds keeps him out of the Writing Program, but he takes a class with poet John Berryman. There he meets several students who would become lifelong friends – poets Henri Coulette, Donald Justice, Jane Cooper, and Robert Dana. The class also includes W. D. Snodgrass, Melvin Walker La Follette, Donald Petersen, Fred Block, Shirley Eliason, William Dickey, and Paul Petrie.

1954 Meets Frances J. Artley (actress and costumer, working on a teaching credential) in Iowa City, and marries her in July, in Boone, North Carolina. Adopts her son, Mark, the following year.

1954-1955 Frances teaches speech and drama at Florida State University while Levine writes and is first published in Antioch Review, Beloit Poetry Journal, New Orleans Poetry Review, Poetry, and Western Review.

1955 Ray B. West and Paul Engle help procure Levine a job at University of Iowa, teaching technical writing. Son John born that December. Works two years at Iowa, meeting Peter Everwine, Robert Mezey and Ted Holmes, and renews friendships with Coulette, Dana, and Peterson.
