Series V. Spanish American War Series - Correspondence

The Spanish-American War Series was modeled on the Civil War Series; the Century had participants in the war to have the participants give their accounts of specific events. The series proved less successful than its celebrated predecessor.

Series VI. Yosemite National Park - Correspondence

In 1889, Robert Underwood Johnson took a pack trip through the Yosemite country in California with John Muir. He was so impressed with the devastation being wrought by thousands of grazing sheep that he outlined two Century articles for Muir, enlisted Gilder's support, and in the next year was largely instrumental in persuading Congress to create Yosemite National Park. Thereafter, Johnson and the Century continued to work in the cause of forest conservation. This correspondence documents Johnson's efforts.
