Scope and content note

The collection contains over 100,000 mostly color postcards compiled by Marshall Hugh Montgomery. Topics include geographic places, both United States and foreign, greeting cards, boats, bridges, children, costumes, humor, lighthouses, military and naval, roads, roadside America, and World War I. There is a secondary set of topics and several small collections within the larger: the Wieland Collection (compiled by George Reber Wieland), the Flora Downing Collection and "Detroits" (Detroit Publishing Co.). A small number are leather, metal and wood. Some are filed by publisher; Connecticut and Florida are especially well-represented. Many of the postcards are in plastic sleeves, done by Montgomery. All data from original dividers have been transcribed.

There are also a few notes, clippings, pricelists, newsletters, catalogs, and other publications, as well as a number of books relating to postcards and postcard collecting.
