

The New York Public Library Manuscripts and Archives Division

Guide to the

Howard Townsend medical lectures

ca. 1860-1865

MssCol 3016

Summary

Creator: Townsend, Howard, 1823-1867

Title: Howard Townsend medical lectures

Date: ca. 1860-1865

Size: .8 linear feet (2 boxes)

Source: Volume on arrival unknown: Gift, Townsend, Howard (Mrs.), 04/12/04

Abstract: Howard Townsend (1823-1867) was a lecturer at the Albany Medical College in Albany, New York. Included are manuscripts of forty-seven medical lectures delivered by Dr. Townsend to the students of the Albany Medical College, ca.1860-1865, and an introductory address to the class of 1865. The lectures consist of a series of twenty-five on physiology (three are missing) and another series of twenty-five on materia medica and other medical topics.

Preferred citation: Howard Townsend medical lectures, Manuscripts and Archives Division, The New York Public Library

Creator History

Howard Townsend (1823-1867) was a lecturer at the Albany Medical College in Albany, New York.

Scope and Content Note

Included are manuscripts of forty-seven medical lectures delivered by Dr. Townsend to the students of the Albany Medical College, ca.1860-1865, and an introductory address to the class of 1865. The lectures consist of a series of twenty-five on physiology (three are missing) and another series of twenty-five on materia medica and other medical topics.

Key Terms

Subjects

Materia medica -- Study and teaching

Medicine -- Study and teaching -- New York (State) -- Albany

Physiology -- Study and teaching

Genre/Physical Characteristic

Physicians

Names

Townsend, Howard, 1823-1867

Albany Medical College